21 (Jury out.)

22 COURT SECURITY OFFICER: All rise.

23 THE COURT: All right. Let's take up the matters
24 we need to discuss before we bring in the jury this morning.

25 Who's first?

MR. NELSON: I believe the only issues are the -- are Apple's issues, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. LUMISH: Very briefly, Your Honor. We just had a couple of concerns about the demonstratives for

1 Q. That's the same thing that was in the Samsung proposal
2 from October, isn't it?

3 A. To describe the context of the invention, yes.

4 Q. You didn't name Samsung or anybody from Samsung as an
5 inventor in your '820 patent, did you?

6 A. I did not, since it is for the context.

7 Q. It's for the context.

8 Let's look at Claim 8.

9 A. Not to my reading.

10 THE REPORTER: I'm sorry, what?

11 A. Not to my reading.

12 Q. (By Mr. Lumish) So here's Claim 8 of the patent. You
13 understand the claims are where you tell the public what
14 you've invented, right?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And you propose a 6 bit buffer size; isn't that true?

17 A. That is true.

18 Q. And if we go to Claim 19.

19 Not for context, but as the claims of what you invented,
20 you claimed a 6 bit buffer size, don't you?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Yet you admitted yesterday, and I think you'll admit
23 again today, you didn't invent the idea of a 6 bit buffer
24 size.

25 A. Correct. In isolation, no. I agree.
